Basis on which we process your data

Such processing is carried out on the basis that it is necessary for the pursuit of legitimate interests and such legitimate interests are not overridden by your interests, fundamental rights or freedoms. Such processing is carried out on the basis of our legitimate interests (in order to decide whether to appoint you to work for us) and/or in order to comply with applicable laws. Once we receive your CV and/or covering letter, we may process that information to decide whether we have any suitable vacancies and if you meet the basic requirements to be shortlisted for that role. If you do, we will decide whether your application is strong enough to invite you for an interview. If we decide to call you for an interview, we will use the information you provide to us at the interview to decide whether to offer you the work. If you fail to provide information when requested, which is necessary for us to consider your application (such as evidence of qualifications or work history), we will not be able to process your application. For example, if we require a credit check or references for this role and you fail to provide us with relevant details, we will not be able to take your application further.
